Cooler Patio Table

I hate a big cooler when we entertain, I often use a wheelbarrow filled with ice or something else pretty. LOOK AT THIS. Just got one and I am obsessed. I will be getting a second one!

Outdoor Storage Coffee Table

If you have outdoor seating, like chairs or a couch, this table is a must have. In the winter, fill it with cushions and store in a dry place. You can also store cushion in it during summer if you live in a climate that gets some rain.

Outdoor Storage End Table

If you have less space, consider the smaller version.

Propane Fire Pit

Fire pits are popular, but they take up a lot of space, especially if they are wood burning. I love a good wood fire, but we are seeing higher fire danger each year, so we have opted for a smaller gas fire pit. This one cranks out the heat, is very compact, stores easily and is portable!

Stainless Steel Prep Table

This is our go to. With a wood fired pizza oven, rolling dough and have space to store all the door balls and supplies in the shade on a lower shelf if key. We use this for so many things, and you just scrub with off and rinse with the hose when done!

Outdoor Grill Cart

A splurge, but worth it!

Wicker Storage Bench

At the entry porch to your home, if you have room a bench can be a very nice look. Bonus if you are a shoe free household. These can hold outdoor shoes and boots, pet toys, gardening supplies, and more! And they look great.

Outdoor Storage Bench

Heres a prettier option!

Deck/Patio Storage Container

We no longer have a deck, just a large patio, but in the past we have. We always had one of these for storing odd outdoor items and gardening tools, even our lawn mower!

This is an option for decks not that far off the ground.

Backyard Shed

Option for underneath a second story deck.

Storage Shed

The big dog!

Decorative Hose Storage Pot

For a hose pot, I love a metal one, they just hold up so much better, and I like them taller as opposed to wider for space savings and preventing a trip hazard.

Wall Mounted Hose Hanger

There are lots of hose hangers, most are not pretty, but this one has a wide rail so the hose has a nice resting spot and doesn't get all tangled like the thinner wire hanger styles.
